VIII. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION OR EXPLANATIONS. (Indicate part of report.)

As for the accounts delineated in Part VII Nos. 5 through 14, they are all parts of two 401(k) plans into which I enrolled while a state court judge. All of these items consist of investment accounts where the manager selects various mutual funds into which the monies of the account are placed for a certain period of time. When an employee elects to direct a portion of his or her earnings into said account, he or she receives a number of "shares" equal to the amount invested. During any time frame, the prices of the shares may go up or down. When the employee exits the plan and/or otherwise sells the shares, there is "income" recognized. However, during the periods when the employee leaves the shares in the account, there is no calculation of (or apparently a way to calculate) income to the employee in that situation as the employee is not informed of the transactions engaged in by the fund manager. I contacted the staff for the Committee on Financial Disclosure, explained the above scenario, and indicated that the best I could do would be to provide the difference in my share prices between the start of the reporting year and its end. I was informed that that procedure would not be entirely accurate and the better response would be to indicate no reportable income and provide an explanation in Part VIII. Consequently, as to Part VII Nos. 5 through 14, I have entered "none" at the Part VII(B)(2) column and have left the Part VII(B)(1) column blank.
