V. Other Gifts

In the Fall of 1993 two Washington, D.C. city clubs, The University Club and The City Tavern Club, extended honorary memberships to me. In the Spring of 1996, the Lotos Club of New York City awarded me an honorary membership. An honorary member is not required to pay either dues or an initiation fee. None of these Clubs has been or is likely to be a litigant in the Court and membership was not invited to exploit my position as a Justice.

Advisory Opinion No. 47 (1975) of the Judicial Conference Advisory Committee, addressing complimentary memberships, concludes that (1) receipt of a complimentary membership is permitted under Canon 5C, and (2) the value of the membership, if in excess of $100, should be reported on the financial disclosure form as a permitted gift.

The University Club's 1993 initiation fee for a resident member 35 years of age or older was $4,000, and in 2005 monthly dues charged resident members 35 years of age or older were $157.

The City Tavern Club's 1993 initiation fee for a resident member was $625, and in 2005 monthly dues charged resident members were $157.

The Lotos Club's 1996 initiation fee for a nonresident member was $2,000, and in 2005 annual dues charged nonresident members was $1,200.
